we are currently working on projects for next year that amongst other issues push the envelope on existing laws on human tissue, murder trials and end of life care.

conclusions and recommendations derived from studies are often hotly disputed and very modest incremental